THAT PERSONAL TOUCH

A man stopped at a flower shop to order some flowers to be wired to his mother who lived two hundred miles away. As he got out of his car, he noticed a young girl sitting on the curb sobbing. He asked her what was wrong and she replied: "I wanted to buy a red rose for my mother. But I only have seventy-five cents and a rose costs two dollars." The man smiled and said, "Come on in with me. I'll buy you a rose." He bought the little girl her rose and ordered his own mother's flowers. As they were leaving he offered the girl a ride home. She said, "Yes, please! You can take me to my mother." She directed him to a cemetery, where she placed the rose on a freshly dug grave. The man returned to the flower shop, cancelled the wire order, picked up a bouquet and drove the two hundred miles to his mother's home.

Some of us may continue to feel obliged to cherish the memory of a loved one with expressions of love and affection even when the loved one has long been gone. But how much better and more meaningful it would be if we expressed that love and care while the object of our affection is still able to see, hear and feel our love. Let us do that not only during this month of love but every day while we and those we love continue to have the breath of life within us.

~~Simeon Rosete, Jr.
